“ George was a wonderful, kind, man. I met him at Lezette Express when I worked there. We were talking ,one day, about doing our pre trip inspection of our buses before we left for our route. I told him it was hard to check the breaks, if no one was there to help you, because you couldn't see them light up, unless you could see them in the reflection of a window or another bus. He had a stick that he used to wedge between the brake pedal and the bottom of the seat and ,with the emergency brake on, he could walk around and see the brake lights. When George retired, he gave me his stick... Thank you, George for being a friend. May you rest in peace until we meet again. Prayers and condolences to your family .... Aggie B
