A life long resident of Glasco, she was born on December 9, 1919 to Angelo and Marie Teresa Iannone Sasso. At age 10 she moved up the hill to where Angelo & son's General Store was established. The building today is a duplex still occupied by her family. A well known and popular resident was a parishioner of St. Joseph's, an excellent home maker and beloved mother and grandmother. She worked as a seamstress for many area dress factories, including Amendola's, VinnieLou, and R&F. Survivors include her daughter, Barbara Sasso, granddaughter Carmen Echevarria and grandson-in-law, Carl F. Travis all of Glasco; her son-in-law, William Echevarria; two brothers, Angelo Sasso, Jr. and John Sasso; and several nieces, nephews, and cousins. She was pre-deceased by her granddaughter, Rosina Angela Echevarria; seven brothers, Franco, Antonio, Camillo, Charles, Dominic, Cosmo and Michael Sasso; and by two sisters, Philomena "Fannie" Sasso, and Mary C. Ferraro.
