“ I felt today like I really needed to talk to you. I miss you, I miss when things happen that you aren't here. I just miss you. I know that you know what is going on. I know what you would say, but I just can't agree to that anymore. I just miss you. Just know I am on your team, and I know it's too late but I understand the level of pain you felt and I am sorry I couldn't do anything to help you. But I am on your team, and no longer will I swim with sharks.

“ I wish I knew my dad more than 5 years of my life because a son should grow up with his father, but I guess I wasn't very lucky to be able to have in my life I wish everyone the best though.
